VIRGINIA'S STAND ON RHEINSCHILD MATTER CLEARLY JUSTIFIED

University Came by Information Through an Unsought Source After Georgetown Authorities nefused to Take Notice of Charges. Hillicppers Must Make Good Covert Cnarkes of Professionalism at Charlottesville.

BY GUS MALBERT.

That's a husky bluff which is drifting this way from the Hilltop in Washington. After trying to bolster up an indefensible position in regards to the eligibility of George Rheinschild, friends of the Blue and Gray are now trying to becloud the real issue by injecting a lot of dribble anent a young man named C. S. Derby, who has enjoyed the privlege of playing left end for the Catholics, and making covert charges that the University of Virginia in calling for a showdown as to the amateur standing of certain Hilltop players, or proof that they have lived up to the six months' res idence provision of the eligibility rules, is occupying the position of the pot calling the kettle black.

Building a football team on sandnot meaning money—is a rather hefty indertaking. There is a biblical earning against building "thy house the sands." But that's neither tere nor there. The fact of the matter is that the athletic authorities at the inversity put the dots on Georgetown
in the Rheisschild case, and did it honrably, after the Georgetown authorises had turned down an opportunity

As for Rheinschild, that is another investigate the matter. Rheinschild to only received remuneration for his otball services, but actually boasted the easy money he was making, and a documentary evidence is in the nds of the faculty of the inversity of Virginia. It might we been in the hands of the culty of Georgetown University had at body thought the fact that a footful player representing the institution is being paid real money for his series, in spite of the declaration that was purely an amateur organization of sufficient importance to design an investigation.

The University of Virginia states emphatically that every team now representing that institution is composed of men who are bona-fide students, men who are smateur athletes in every phase of what that term implies. If Georgetown knows aught to the contrary and does not take action, regardless of the Rheinschild and Derby disputes, then Georgetown is shirking 2 duty she owes to every soilege and university in this country soilege and university Talk that unless Derby is allowed to play Virginia will be shown up is small moment compared to the greaturely can think. Derby is not the point is thus. The one and only question is as to the eligibility of each man composing the eleven of the University of Virginia. The guantlet has been thrown down, and the burden of press lies with Georgetown. Virginia will doubtless, and certainly sheeld demand an investigation or a public retraction, preferably both.

As far as we are concerned, we eligibility code, or approximately the most attractive courses of the club.

Baltimore, Md. November 2 Clarence Curve is good turn to helo other institutions ("Cupid") Childs an old-line ball player, ("Cupid")

As for Rheinschild, that is another matter. An attempt has been made to mount him upon a pedestal, to make him assume the position of a poor young man with the very meritority purpose in mind of working his way through college. He comes from the coast, and the inwards of the manner in which the university got its information, in view of the unfair reports which have been going the rounds, may prove interesting.

Mr. Man, have you seen these handsome $16.50 and $18 Suitings we just bought at our own price

$16.50 another lot of handsome goods bought in the big mill-purchase and sold far below the price others ask for the same quality. Come

714 East Main Street I Importers

for $20 Cassimeres, Cheviots and Unfinished Worsteds; and are now offering at $13.50? Say, they are won-ders for the money. And they are BETTER made than the $15 suits other tailors boast of. The coats

will not lose their shape, the shoulders will not sag,

the fronts will not curl. Yet they are made in either

Suit or Overcoat at only.....

where you will get the BEST your money will buy."
